

DISCLAIMER

Effective Date: 03 Jul 2025

The information, dosage calculators, unit convertors, score chart and rating scales, level-up learning quiz, and all other content provided through the Calibre Nurse web application (“Service”) are for educational and informational purposes only and are not a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment.

1) Clinical Use Warning

- The tools provided on this platform, including dosage calculators, unit convertors, clinical scoring chart and rating scales, and level-up learning quiz, are designed to support—but not replace—clinical decision-making by licensed healthcare professionals.
- Users must verify calculations and scores before applying them in clinical settings.

2) No Medical Advice

- Calibre Nurse does not offer medical or nursing advice, recommendations, or patient-specific interventions.
- You should always consult a qualified healthcare provider for any medical concerns.

3) Accuracy and Liability

- While we strive for accuracy, we do not guarantee that all content is correct, complete, or error-free.
- Calibre Nurse and its creators will not be held liable for any harm, injury, or damages arising from the use of any tools or content on this platform.

4) Professional Responsibility

- Use of this platform is at your own discretion and risk.
- The responsibility for appropriate use of information provided lies entirely with the user.

5) External Links

- The Service may link to third-party websites or references.
- Calibre Nurse is not responsible for the content, accuracy, or practices of these external resources.

6) Jurisdiction

- This disclaimer is governed by the laws of India.
- Any legal disputes shall be handled within the jurisdiction of Belagavi, Karnataka.

7) Testimonials and Reviews

- Reflect individual experiences, not guarantees

8) Affiliate/Advertising Disclosure

- If applicable in future, affiliate relationships will be disclosed
